See all 129 photos Hyundai has already shown off the 2019 Tucson in four-door sedan, cab, and wagon form. It's yet to unveil any details about the new Tucson hatchback, which we expect will go on sale toward the end of the year. Hyundai will have to work a little harder with the hatchback, as North America's biggest auto market is still predominantly sedans. Given the Elantra and Sonata accounts for more than half of the Tucson's sales in recent years, Hyundai has an uphill battle. The hatchback is a fairly unique body style that will have to attract customers who may find the Tucson's sedan-like appearance too bland. While we're still waiting to see a revised Tucson, we'll get a chance to see the SUV version of the hatchback when it goes on sale. Look for the 2019 Tucson GX in a fall unveiling.
