Remo Optimizer is a system analyzer that can identify and remove programs and files that are executed or used by a computer. As the name suggests, this application can help you achieve the best performance of the computer, making it boot faster and load applications without any delay. The program features a quick scan that makes identifying unwanted elements easy and visual. You do not need to toggle any option, as the program automatically scans the computer and displays the results in a list.

Remo Optimizer - Advanced System Information Advanced System Information is a tool that allows you to gain deep information about your computer. The feature comes with various categories that you can use to customize the information displayed. All of the main hardware components can be identified, including those that are included in the system, audio, video, network, modems, etc. Many of the issues that affect the performance of the computer are even displayed in real time by this tool, such as storage space used, number of opened files and empty links. An interesting feature is the "System Info" tab, which displays information of interest to users. You can view information such as CPU usage, free disk space, total memory, information about the memory controller, etc.

Remo Optimizer - Advanced Startup The Advanced Startup can be launched directly from the shortcut of any application. It is important to note that this feature is included to Remo Optimizer as a "synonym" for the Startup button. The startup manager can be used to disable applications that are usually launched by the computer at startup. You can access this feature by clicking the icon located on the top menu bar. This tool is not included to any other tool included to the package. It does not matter the operating system version used, since the function is available in all available versions.

Remo Optimizer - Shutdown The Shutdown tab of the menu also represents the equivalent of the Startup "button". You can use it to automatically disable the applications and processes that are currently running. The same principle applies, as it is a feature included to the program and is not available to any other tab.

Remo Optimizer - User List The User List allows you to add a list of users that the computer will recognize as its owners. You can specify the user name and the group that the user belongs to. You can make the "Stop" and "Minimize

What's New in the Remo Optimizer?

Remo Optimizer is a handy, free program that can help you identify and remove certain useless and unneeded items from your PC, thus boosting performance and reliability. The program can identify common startup items and remove them. Additionally, you can remove excessive left-over and unused data (if the program is correctly configured), empty registry keys and unused shared DLLs. It is important to note that the application does not remove permanently unnecessary files, applications or registry keys. It is recommended to use manual methods, such as removing them manually, to do this.
