Q: How to get the lowest and highest values in a list of values using javascript I’m creating a table that will display the maximum and minimum values from a list of numbers. I have the code to get the highest but I can’t seem to work out how to get the lowest. Here’s what I have to get the highest value in the list : var max; for (var i = 0; i max) { max = tasks[i]; } } Any help would be appreciated. A: For your lowest, you can use Array#find() and Array#sort() : var tasks = [4,5,7,8,9]; var max = tasks.find(function(a) { return a > tasks.sort(function(a,b) {return a - b})[0]; }); console.log(max); // 4 Note In order to ensure that the first element found is the lowest, you can use sort()[0] instead of sort(...)[0] sort() returns an array (in reverse order)

FIFA is one of the best selling and best loved football games. To celebrate 20 years of FIFA, this new FIFA year brings to life one of the greatest football stories in history. More than 1.6 million babies are born when FIFA is on TV. The small, yet mighty FIFA Universe marks its 20th birthday and still remains true to its football roots with more than 35 million players in the world. The game industry has changed significantly, but to play, and enjoy our game, the experience needs to be authentic. FIFA 22 delivers a more grounded, balanced and involved experience in every mode, enabling fans to take a larger part in the FIFA scene. Revolutionary Approach As always, we want to revolutionise the game experience and break the boundaries of what is possible in a football game. This year, we are bringing more of the physicality of real football to FIFA. Revisions to movements, acceleration and more impactful collision physics take the game into new areas to provide a more authentic challenge for players. Heavier players have a more physical feel on the ball, controlling it with greater force. The weight of a player also impacts decisions to tackle. With the ability to predict and react to the ball carriers and when they could receive the ball, the impact of a tackle has been improved. Players with the ball can feel the physicality of defending players, harder to win the ball and harder to keep possession, thanks to the advancement of the combat. The core experience of turning and passing control have been kept intact but tweaked slightly, as well as movement speed, while the ability to control the ball has been reinforced. A brand new control scheme and Pro Controller configurability also allow for a new experience while playing the game. New features Real Madrid and Barcelona are now fully included in the Ultimate Team collection as well as Premier League and UEFA Champions League. Adidas continue to support EA SPORTS™ FIFA with a multitude of new kits, new ball designs and a new football boot line. Extra freedom in in-game settings has been introduced to give you complete control. The graphical engine has been improved through better graphics, lighting, depth of field and new constraints in addition to the new control schemes. New themes and music include a new default theme by Lang Lang, as well as an original soundtrack by various composers. A new ‘Arcade↻
