Social media posts and posts to Twitter and Facebook highlighted a new, "Civility, Calm, Content" campaign by the BC Security Industry Association (BCSIA) aimed at building civic engagement and support for the new legislation. Starting Nov. 30 and running through January 31, the campaign featured online contests in which entrants could win free tickets to the BCSIA annual meeting in Vancouver in February. The association highlighted a "supporters" section on its website, an Instagram account, and the Twitter hashtag #BCSecSafety to spread news about the campaign. All of these venues were also used to broadcast the association's own campaign messages, which promoted BCSIA members' support for the bill and encouraged members and the public to share their own positive social media posts about the message. BCSIA said in a statement that in less than one month, the campaign had produced 2,971 "reactions," more than 16,000 comments, and over 4,000 shares to social media posts related to the campaign. The association also said it had brought in nearly 600 new members since the campaign began. "We couldn't be more proud of our grassroots efforts with this campaign," said BCSIA president and CEO Kevin Thompson. "We saw really remarkable engagement with those that we asked to post a message of support to both our members and the general public." Thompson added that the campaign's organizers recognized the value of using social media to broadcast news and updates about the campaign. "It's a great way to highlight important issues and we can use technology to reach a broader audience," he said. "The campaign has been a great success and is now helping to encourage more people to come to the

There is a question Why does gravitational potential energy increase as well as decrease? in the main site but why it is closed as off topic? As I can see it is a valid question for research level physics. A: This site is not a general physics research site. It's a site for specific question about physics problems within the framework of GR, like this one. The site specifically forbids questions on physics without a specific question. If you would like to discuss this decision with the moderators, please visit Meta Stack Overflow. A: The reason I think this question was not allowed on meta is due to the fact that it is very broad, I say that only because it covers many different things. For example it has to do with questions involving mechanics that are not included as part of Physics SE. A more specific question would be more appropriate for the main site.
