- Real Time Mobile Projection on the Internet: The difference between VGA connection and Internet is not the quality of output, but latency and lack of interactivity. Projector Online takes advantage of this difference and uses hardware and software to connect the projector in a traditional way to the computer, but all possible data is transferred over the Internet, so you can do a real time projection from any computer in your office/home on your projector. It is a webbased application which uses the full network bandwidth and eliminates the problem of latency and lack of interactivity. You can use Projector Online on a shared computer as normal desktop sharing software, but since it is not possible to connect internet to network sharing, you can only browse files and do desktop sharing to a projector. It can be used with any type of projector. - No Output cable: Projector Online can connect your projector wirelessly by using either your router, switch or wireless access point. You don't need a VGA cable to change the desktop on your projector. With the wired connection, the output cable is only used to convert the data from computer to projection format. - Possibility to turn down You don't need to worry about the quality of the projection when you use a projector online. You can adjust the brightness and contrast of the projection exactly the way you like to see the projector in real time. The quality of the software program is always maintained. - Security and maintenance With all the security features, you don't need to worry about whether your network is secured enough, whether your computer connected to projector is safe. Projector Online is always under the administration of the user. It doesn't save the data on the server, but just stores a short time cache of the real time data. - Multi-user compatibility: It is possible to have more than one user using Projector Online at a time. - Zero cost and investment: The cost and investment is zero.
