Following the release of The Journey on Wii U in November of last year, we have already seen some first glimpses of FIFA's cover star, Cristiano Ronaldo, in-game. In this interview, FIFA producer Craig Sullivan and lead gameplay engineer Mark Hamer give a look at what we can expect from the upcoming football game. They discuss game balance, features and the development process and how their work on The Journey gave them a head start with FIFA 22. What's your favourite football game? Sullivan: I don't have a favourite, but I really enjoyed playing FIFA The Journey on the Wii U. Hamer: I did, as well, Craig. I was looking forward to playing it because I know FIFA has always been a fun game to play, but it's fun to start and have something fresh to play. And of course I've been working on FIFA for 20 years now so I'm always looking forward to see what's new. What is your favourite football feature in FIFA? Sullivan: The way the ball bounces. I played a lot of FIFA on the PS1, especially because of that feature. It's a fantastic feature. I remember my favourite goal was my own goal back from one of those great spots where the ball bounces perfectly every time you shoot. And also the ball physics. Hamer: The ball physics and also the players. If you see a player with one of the Real Madrid or Barcelona teams, the player is incredible. They're so fast, they're so dynamic, they really represent their club. Sullivan: The FIFA gameplay is fine, but those teams are just so incredible. But the real life players are in-game because we're moving the design so much closer to the real thing. Hamer: Yeah, they are, too. Our designers are in studios looking at Real Madrid or Barcelona games and they take some stuff from there. So we're getting that close, but it's not yet there. Sullivan: There's a lot of back and forth on the features and how to add them in. For example, players have been in FIFA for a long time. But in FIFA 22 we've made them a lot more intelligent. It's not just the way they move, but the controls,

What's new:

- UEFA Champions League - The UEFA Champions League is now in FIFA 22 and offers player likenesses of the greatest players to have graced the world's most prestigious club competition. New and selected classic players are updated to match real-world squads, including Lionel Messi, Cristiano Ronaldo, Zlatan Ibrahimovic, Mohamed Salah, Lionel Messi, Xavi, Sergio Ramos, and Gigi Buffon.
- Guardian Pro - Activate guardian pro in the player's matchday squad and take on matchday squads of other players. Play in either halves, in addition to matches.
- Improved player movement physics - So much more nuanced and realistic. It's more fluid and there's no longer any awkward mid-air freeze in start-and-stop situations.
- New player animations - Player animations have been totally reworked. Now you'll no longer find stale poses when a player is first selected - they animate with each player in the game, enhancing your player-to-player connection as well as your manager's playing session.
- Player positioning - This improved positioning is more intuitive, so the ball goes to your feet, not one or both feet off.
- Guardian pro and HelmetManager now interact - The upgrade straightens the head movement if preferred, making it more realistic. The helpful tool also reveals your proximity to offsides.
- Ramping up the intensity - The new ramping up of intensity brings an increased pacing to gameplay as defenders call for the ball earlier in matches and players press their tackles.

FIFA is the most popular, authentic football video game franchise in the world and it's powered by EA SPORTS. FIFA 21 continues where Ultimate Team took off last year. The biggest tactical advancement is Off the Ball AI, which now reads and reacts to each situation. Pivotal to the gameplay advancements is "Powered by Football", a relentless evolution of the Frostbite Engine that captures movement in unbelievable detail, tackles with impeccable intensity, and brings the emotion of real world football to life in the most authentic way. Do I need a PlayStation®4 system to play? Yes, FIFA 21 requires a PlayStation®4 system to play. This is due to the newly implemented Frostbite engine, which is supported by all platforms, and all future FIFA games will require a PlayStation®4 system. A PlayStation®4 system will be required to play FIFA Ultimate Team packs and FIFA Mobile. Do I need a PlayStation®4 Pro system to play? No, a PlayStation®4 system is required for FIFA 21, but a PlayStation®4 Pro system will enhance certain gameplay elements. What is FIFA Ultimate Team? FIFA Ultimate Team is a popular feature of FIFA where players can build and trade players from over 60 different clubs. How do I play FIFA Ultimate Team? Select the Ultimate Team tab at the main menu, and press X. Press Y on the squad screen to view your squad and press A on a player to view more of him, hold Y and press A to select multiple players or press B to view new players. How do I assign them to my squad? On the squad screen, press X to view your squad. On the right hand side of the screen is a small form, in this form you can assign players to teams. You can assign players manually to teams or automatically assign each of your players to a team for you. Press Y to view your squads. You can press A to view players and press B to view new players. What is FIFA Mobile? FIFA Mobile is a collection of free-to-play games on mobile that are based on the best FIFA franchise. How does FIFA Mobile work?
