variable persistent I have a problem using memset. I am trying to make a player's health variable persistent so the player will have the same health, regardless of when I restart the program. Also, every time I restart the game, the current player's health and score are reset to the starting values. What I have right now will only make the player's health persistent if I don't run the program the next day. If I run it the next day, it will work fine. using System;
