Prepare well for your CSCS Health, safety and environment test by choosing the areas that interest you most. The test will test all the relevant aspects of health and safety. This will include areas such as scaffolding, falls and the handling of heavy loads. The CSCS card is a great tool that can help you move up the career ladder. You can take the mock test for the CSCS card, and then take a look at the course of the real exam. You will find that there is no need to get anxious, as you can choose the CSCS training course that suits you most as it will help you get more serious and at the same time, relevant. Practice to pass your CITB Health, safety and environment test. Our mock test will show you how we have put together the information and covered all areas related to health, safety and environment. The CSCS test will test your core skills, and you will be asked to complete a number of activities in front of a medical practitioner. The test will include both theory and practical elements. There will be a series of tests, involving evaluation of risk and judgement, that will test your problem solving ability, judgment and speed. Can I take the test in a public place? There is usually a class of people who are 'clicked out' by lifting/ handling equipment. The CSCS test is aimed at seeing how we, as a society, should be interacting with such equipment. The test provides the most effective and accurate method of assessing your skills and ability to operate lifting equipment.
