fantastic app. when i try to load the subs into my iphone. it just doesnt download them. it just tries to download them. the area that displays the subs only briefly flashes before it vanishes. this is a little freaky. subs have been burned onto this dvd since 1984 and when i hit download a couple minutes later it finishes.

now i can only see the subs during playback. i can even save the subs to my iphone and they work there.

im just having trouble downloading them. this is the kind of feature you would expect to be stable. by the way i have a mac unable to open subtitles file for iphone. downloaded it from itunes store and chosen the cinema 1 file. i have finished the itunes downloads. it will not open. the only way to get subtitles into iplayer is through the menu manually. have tried everything. this is very difficult to find any help on the internet. really. no one seems to want to give a helping hand thanks for this program. it was very helpful. there's a problem i have though. when i've downloaded them to my iphone i've got a message that says "could not find any subs files" for the video. i've tried downloading them on a pc and they work fine. any idea? please download the subtitles. but after the download and its off. i try to watch one of the movies again. what i see is that the subtitles just change from korean to english. i dont see them on my windows 10 pc. i have windows 10. if there are any problems with the subtitles. what shall i do? "for now, the captions will only appear below the video on websites where video uploaders allow it. captions that appear above the video will be read out by the online service automatically," an amazon representative told android headlines.
