The objective of the breeding program was to produce new Abies species hybrid Abies with a dense form and good branch spread. The inventor selected the new variety in November 2010 from within the resulting progeny of the stated cross. This new variety is characterized by its medium-green foliage and erect, multiple upright branches that are borne on spires with an upright habit. The new variety is very similar to its parent 'Diamondhead' U.S. Plant Pat. No. 28,931, but differs from it primarily in the habit of upright branches. 'Diamondhead' has very dense foliage with small, low branch spires and a compact 79a2804d6b
